LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

I had German classes with Mr. Jan Komisarczyk, a student of the Warsaw School of Economics, for over a year.

Jan, who initially demonstrated basic skills in German vocabulary and grammar, had to master the language at a fast pace, as the curriculum of his studies entailed German language course at an advanced level.

Right from the start Mr. Jan Komisarczyk showed great commitment and devoted a lot of time to learning the language. He was exemplary in doing all his homework and studied on his own from the Pearson Publishing House's compendium for A-level students as well as from other scientific publications. He set himself a goal of systematically furthering and deepening his knowledge using all available sources. Not only was Jan conscientious and diligent in his work but he also took the initiative to add further linguistic topics to his course. Just after one year of studying under my guidance he was able to attend classes based on articles from the German press.

Within a few months Mr. Jan Komisarczyk learned German from scratch to an advanced level, which allowed him to go to Hamburg, where he lived and attended a traineeship for over 3 months. In Hamburg he worked for a company where he had to communicate in German.

He is a student with an extraordinary motivation to learn, studying is not difficult for him and he has a big language talent. Jan currently has a very good command of German both in speech and in writing. Furthermore, he is a well-mannered person, which helps him to establish contacts easily, and working with him is a pleasure.

REFERENCE LETTER

To Whom it May Concern

I hereby certify that Mr Jan Komisarczyk has collaborated with the European Personnel Selection Office (EPSO) as a student EU Careers Ambassador since October 2019.

EU Careers Ambassadors are appointed for an academic year and are responsible for the marketing and promotion across their University campus of EU careers possibilities within the Institutions of the European Union. Their tasks include: being the point of contact for students interested in EU Careers, researching target groups and contacting university media, creating and updating mailing lists and distributing information on EU Careers events and upcoming competitions, updating Facebook sites, posting flyers around the university campus and handing out leaflets, and representing EU Careers by giving presentations and manning the EU Careers stand at university careers events.

Close cooperation with EPSO, the respective Representation of the European Institutions in the Member States, and a variety of other third parties is a necessary part of the work. EPSO, along with the majority of the European Institutions, is based in Brussels, which means that EU Careers Ambassadors need to demonstrate reliability and an ability to work independently. Ambassadors must also be able to research target groups and make contacts easily with a broad-spectrum audience including students, professors, and officials of the European Institutions.

During the time collaborating with EPSO, Mr Jan Komisarczyk has shown himself to possess all the above abilities, as well as excellent communication, organisational and public-speaking skills.

I can recommend Mr Jan Komisarczyk in his search for future employment and wish him much success wherever this may take him.

EPSO, B-1049 Bruxelles / Brussel - Belgium. Telephone: (32-2) 299 11 11.
Office: C-25 05/043 Telephone: direct line (32-2) 29 65993.

E-mail: rita.hinek@ec-europa.eu

If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact our EU Careers Ambassadors project managers, Rita Hinek (Tel. +32-2-29-65993, rita.hinek@ec.europa.eu) or Anne-Claire Gathoye (Tel. +32-2-29-52538, anne-claire.gathoye@ec.europa.eu).

In accordance with normal business practice, the above information is given in good faith and without liability to EPSO or the European Commission.
